Commuter Rail Procurement – Contract No. 159-12

Selection Committee

September 30, 2013

The entire Selection Committee met on September 30, 2013 at 2pm at 77 Franklin Street, Boston to reach a consensus decision on the overall evaluation ratings of MBCR and Keolis. Attachment A sets forth the consensus ratings of each Proposer for each of the eleven evaluation factors. These ratings are listed in order of importance (i.e., Safety is the most important, Mobilization, least important). After a lengthy discussion, the Selection Committee, giving appropriate weight to each evaluation factor, concluded that the overall rating of Keolis was GOOD, and that the overall rating factor of MBCR was ACCEPTABLE. Sean McCarthy and Jonathan Davis were directed by the Selection Committee to memorialize the reasoning of the Selection Committee in arriving at those conclusions in writing and submit that report to the entire Selection Committee to be signed, effective as of September 30, 2013. The Selection Committee noted that because of travel commitments of individual Selection Committee members, the Selection Committee could not reconvene to finalize its report until the week of October 15, 2013.
